SLOVENIA

TRIGLAV MOUNTAIN

TRIGLAV mountain is the highest and most "sacred" mountain in Slovenia.

The 2,864-metre high limestone mountain TRIGLAV has been a source of inspiration and devotion for more than a millennium.

The early Slavs believed the mountain to be the home of a three-headed deity who ruled the heaven, the earth and the underworld, but no one challenged (or dared) to climb the summit until about two centuries ago.

Today Triglav figures prominently on the national flag and seal.
